VMAC Donates $2500 To VIU MBA Association for 2019 MBA Games

NANAIMO, BC – VMAC is proud to donate $2500 to the Vancouver Island University (VIU) MBA Association for their participation in the upcoming MBA Games competition in Toronto.

VIU will compete against over 500 MBA students from 25 Canadian business schools and try to bring the championship trophy home. But the MBA Games represents more than a little friendly competition...

“The MBA Games is the pinnacle of what MBA is all about,” said James Sandahl, Vice President of the VIU MBA Association.

It allows students the opportunity to practice business skills in a risk-free environment before entering their community’s workforce. The VIU MBA students will practice negotiation, strategy, marketing, and finance abilities in a high-pressure setting, as part of their presentation.

“The MBA Games takes experiential learning to the next level,” said Vanessa Stratton, President of the MBA Association.

Best of all, the MBA Games help students become stronger members of the local, national and global communities.

“MBA isn’t just about business—it’s about corporate responsibility,” said Rahul Patil, a member of the association. “MBA teaches us how to be sustainable and give back to the community.”

VIU’s MBA Association won the MBA Games in 2017 but the champions were defeated in 2018. The current team hopes to bring victory back to Vancouver Island for the 2019 Games.

“We really appreciate VMAC’s contribution. We can’t say that enough,” said Vanessa.
